

- 15 -

Abstract

The present invention relates to the laser inscription of a flexible inner support layer of a multilayered support unit, which is distinguished by the fact
5 that the laser inscription of the inner support layer is carried out through one or more flexible outer laser-inactive support layers which are separate or can be separated from one another.

10

15

20

25

30